

The PGA is pleased to announce that scientists from Animal Health Australia will be in Western Australia to talk about FMD policy review.

As this will be a whole of industry presentation, it will be held at DAFWA head office, Baron Hay Ct, South Perth in the theaterette.

Monday 27 February from 2pm

The meeting features the following speakers;

- Dr Tony Higgs (WA Chief Veterinary Officer) has kindly agreed to provide a brief overview of emergency animal disease response arrangements in WA.
- Dr Eva-Maria Bernoth (AHA's Executive Manager, Emergency Animal Disease Preparedness and Response) will follow this with an update on the FMD response policy review.
 - Specific questions from attendees are welcome.
- Dr Peter Dagg (AHA's Manager AUSVETPLAN) and Dr Sue Skirrow (DAFWA's Senior Veterinary Officer, Manager EAD) will also be in attendance.

The presentation will follow the PGA Livestock Committee meeting, to be held in the morning at Pastoral House from 8.30am
